On December 19, 2025, as part of the efforts to foster an anti-corruption culture and to discuss issues related to combating corruption at the university, a meeting was held by Compliance Officer B. Tuletayev with 4th-year students of the Institute of Economics, Digital Technologies and Law (IECTL).

During this meeting, the compliance officer informed the future young specialists about the norms and rules aimed at preventing corrupt practices and spoke about the anti-corruption policy of our state and university. In particular:

• What is corruption?

-Definition: bribery, graft, abuse of official position for personal gain, etc.

-Examples of corrupt actions.

• Types of corruption

-Administrative (everyday), business, and political corruption.

• International experience in combating corruption

-Corruption Perceptions Index (Example: Denmark, Finland, Singapore — leaders in the ranking).

-Successful practices of other countries.

• Anti-corruption policy and measures

• The role of the state and society

• The dangers of corruption